

Would you like to volunteer to help CTN?

We would be delighted to hear from anyone who would like to help with the organisation of CTN, for example by dealing with the post, copying and sending out the USB sticks, by reading and recording articles, or even by writing material.

Our base for the post and for copying is at the Cam Sight headquarters at 167 Green End Road Cambridge CB4 1RW. At present all our recording is done remotely.

Audio recordings for visually impaired people

www.cambridgetalkingnews.org.uk

What do we do?

We make and send out weekly audio recordings of local news, interesting features and interviews to visually impaired people in and around the Cambridge area.

We also produce CamMag, an audio magazine sent out eight times a year. This magazine includes information for visually impaired people as well as magazine style articles and features, often with a focus on local history.

Both recordings are distributed FREE of charge. We can also lend our listeners a Sovereign player free of charge if they need one.

Other ways to listen:

On Alexa

Say “play Cambridge Talking Newspaper”.

Normal land line charges apply.

What do our listeners think?

“As well as low vision I have poor hearing and often find I can’t understand as people speak too quickly. I was pleased that I could listen to your recordings without it being a strain. Thank you for what you do for people like me.”

“I cannot praise the quality of your service highly enough.”

“Thank you for your great magazine. It is always very interesting and informative. I do appreciate the time and effort you all put in to send this to us. I look forward to them very much.”

“Once again a good varied selection – thank you. Keep it coming.”

“My mother enjoys listening to the magazine which brings back memories and stimulates conversation.”
